
Online course II

Using creative cooperative learning tasks during a Sensitization training on racism, discrimination, migration etc.

- Title: Using creative cooperative learning tasks during a Sensitization training on racism, discrimination, migration etc.
- Participants: Former participants on the ICI course Sensitisation training with reference to migration, racism, discrimination, culture and diversity with strategies for teaching these issues to diverse age groups
- Place: The course takes place on-line. There will be three common meetings with all participants held on Microsoft Teams and three group meetings where group members decide themselves where and when they want to meet for their group work tasks. All materials and tasks will be stored on Microsoft Teams
- Time: There will be three common meetings with the whole group of participants registered to the course and three meetings where participants meet in smaller groups at times and places that they decide. Time used on tasks, reading and discussing in groups can vary but on average participants should assume about 4-5 hours weekly for the duration of the course.
- Objectives: That the former participants get a review of some ideas concerning the topics of the course especially focusing on workplace training and creating cooperative learning tasks
- Methods: A range of inputs and tasks via a common platform will guide participants through the program concerning sensitization training, focusing in particular on workplace training and hard to reach and resistant participants. Some tasks will be worked on individually, other in groups. Regularly participants will send the trainer their outcomes and get feedback.
- Outcome: Participants will have created/drafted two simple cooperative learning task, useful for workplace training and received feedback from the trainer and other participants.
- Preparation: All participants must ensure that they have Microsoft Teams on their computers and to be signed in at the first common session.
They also make sure that their microphone and camera are functioning correctly for all meetings.
They must send a note confirming the payment to Guðrún (gudrun@ici.is) at least 5 days before course begin. They will then receive a receipt from ICI.
- Certification: Participants will get an ICI certificate with description of the learned topics and that they have handed in all assignments and tasks.
- Price: 190 Euro. Included in the price is course fee and materials. Materials included are a pdf version of two fully developed and tried out cooperative learning tasks about prejudice, migration, racism etc. and myths on migration and a pdf version of one chapter from the book “Diverse Society/Diverse Classroom”.